We invite applications for the Ida B. Wells-Barnett Postdoctoral Teaching Fellowship. The fellowship is housed in the Department of African and Black Diaspora Studies at DePaul University.

We invite applications for the Ida B. Wells-Barnett Postdoctoral Teaching Fellowship for the academic year 2020-21. The fellowship is housed in the Department of African and Black Diaspora Studies at DePaul University.

The Ida B. Wells-Barnett Postdoctoral Teaching Fellowship reflects the University’s Vincentian mission, which includes a scholarly commitment to the areas of race, equality, social justice, and advocacy of historically oppressed and underserved populations. The Vincentian mission is reinforced by the principles that informed Ida B. Wells-Barnett’s advocacy of civil and human rights for Black people.

The ideal candidate for this position will meaningfully balance a clearly defined research agenda with a similar spirit of advocacy. Eligibility is restricted to those who have received their PHD no earlier than 2016 and who will have the PhD in hand by the end of July 2020.
