Tenure-Track Position in African American History

The Department of History at The University of Scranton welcomes applications for a tenure-track position in African American history, beginning fall 2021. A Ph.D. in History by the time of appointment and teaching experience are preferred. Primary responsibilities include teaching the U.S. History survey, Race in American History, as well as other courses in the successful candidate’s area of expertise. Preference will be given to candidates who specialize in urban history and/or religious history in the late 19th and early 20th centuries, but all applications will be considered. The University of Scranton is, by tradition and choice, a Catholic and Jesuit university. A full statement of our mission may be found at http://www.scranton.edu/mission. The University of Scranton is committed to providing a safe and nondiscriminatory employment and educational environment. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, disability, religion, age, veteran status, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, or other status protected by law. Sexual harassment, including sexual violence, is a form of sex discrimination prohibited by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972. We seek candidates who demonstrate a commitment to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion of underrepresented groups in academia in the spirit of our mission. The University does not discriminate on the basis of sex in its educational, extracurricular, athletic, or other programs or in the context of employment.

The University of Scranton is an Equal Opportunity Employer/Educator. Veterans, minority persons, women, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. For full consideration please submit a letter of interest, c.v., & three letters of reference at universityofscrantonjobs.com by October 1, 2020. Initial interviews will occur via Zoom. Questions can be directed to Adam Pratt (adam.pratt@scranton.edu), the search chair.
